

Shopping vocabulary

Match the words with their synonyms.

to buy	a store
a shop	a cashier
changing rooms	a register
to queue	fitting rooms
a chemist's	a concession
a discount	to purchase
a check-out	a pharmacy
a check-out assistant	to line up

Complete the sentences with one word.

- Ann spends money like _____. I think her husband should put a limit on her credit card.
- My mum came down at the weekend and we went on a massive shopping _____. We probably visited about 50 shops and ended up with £500 worth of stuff.
- I really like this jumper and I'm going to come back for it. Could you put it on _____ for me for a couple of hours?
- Look, the phone you wanted is _____ special. You should get it now while it's in stock.
- I find shopping online quite convenient and risk-free. This website, for example, offers free _____ for any purchase over $60 and free returns to store.
- The store is about to close. Please proceed to the _____.
- I think my fiancé's a bit of a _____. She can't even imagine not spending the weekend at the shopping centre.
- Keep the _____, honey. We might need to return the dress if she doesn't like it.
- I don't usually shop _____ for things. If I need something, I just get it from the first place it's available at.
- This book is a present for my husband. Could you _____ it for me please?
- I got a Christmas bonus at work so I went and splashed _____ on a new coat. How do I look?
- The _____ in that boutique was really rude and unhelpful. I think I will go back and demand to speak to the manager.
- The packaging was slightly damaged so they offered me a 10% _____.
- Our neighbours must have money to _____. They've just bought another car and it's a Bugatti!
- Do you think we'll need a _____ or will a basket do? How long is the shopping list?